Special attention will be given to theological, psychological and ethical perspectives. Normally, Pastoral Theology and Care is a prerequisite for all other courses in the area. Requests for exceptions should go to the area faculty before registration.

IST 2019 1 -- Preaching & Spiritual Leadership (OL)

Preachg& Spiritual Ldrshp - 4 credits

Eunjoo Kim

Check-in: Wks 5,8 Fri 3-5p or Sa 10a-12p -- We are living in a world of complexity and polarization, culturally and religiously, as well as socio-politically. Our society desperately needs mature spiritual leadership that guides people in the process of discernment and to live it out faithfully. This course takes this situation seriously and focuses on preaching as an art of spiritual leadership. It aims to help students equip themselves as spiritual leaders and enhance their unique voices by deepening their understanding of spirituality and practicing their spiritual leadership through preaching. Designed for those who wish to become great spiritual preachers, this course uses a variety of pedagogical approaches: group discussions, self-reflection on spirituality, surveys of congregational spiritual types, preaching workshops, and sermon evaluations.

IST 2020 1 -- Community Organizing (OL)

Community Organizing - 4 credits

Kristina Lizardy-Hajbi

Check-in: Thurs 1:00-2:15pm, wks 2,5,8 -- This course will introduce students to the histories and core concepts of community organizing in the United States, including the various skills, strategies, values, and goals underlying particular organizing models. Students will have the opportunity to reflect on their core values in relationship to self interest and identity, develop skills in building meaningful relationships across difference, analyze power and privilege, and engage community organizing strategies for social justice and change.

Elective Course - 4 credits

Julie Todd

Check-in: Thurs 9-10:15am, wks 2,5,8 -- This course exposes students to the theories and practices of individual and collective (non)violence in pursuit of ecological justice. By questioning the violence-(non)violence dichotomy and clarifying definitions/usage of the terms violence and (non)violence, students consider the structures of power and violence within which violence and (non)violence as ecological justice strategies operate. While surveying historical organized resistance to ecological devastation, students reflect on how religious traditions, theologies and spiritual practices contribute to ecological destruction and/or promote earth justice for the other-than-human

IST 2253 1 -- Islam in the Medieval Mediterranean (OL)

Islam/Medieval Mediterran - 4 credits

Albert Hernandez

Check-in: Thurs 2:30-3:45p, wks 2,5,8 -- This is a comparative course examining the emergence of Islam in the social, religious, and historical context of the Medieval Mediterranean from the Arab conquest of Egypt to the rise of the Ottoman Empire and the fall of the Caliphate of Granada in Spain. We will examine tensions and collaborations between Islam and Christianity, like the region's influential centers for the preservation, translation and dissemination of ancient books alongside the accomplishments of Islamic science and Sufi mysticism. This course also examines the importance of these comparative legacies for understanding today's ongoing religious and political conflicts across the region.

IST 2510 1 -- Introduction to Theology (OL)

Intro to Theology - 4 credits

Jeremy Garber

Check-in: Thurs 1:00-2:15pm, wks 2,5,8 -- The purpose of this course is to introduce students to the goals, tasks, and basic content of Christian theology. In particular we will look at systematic theology, what it is, why it is important, how it works, and historical resources from the Christian tradition that are relevant to many vocations today.

IST 3053 1 -- Religion and Film (OL)

Religion & Film - 4 credits

Jeffrey Mahan

Check-in: Tues 1:00-2:15p wks 2,5,8 -- Explores the interactions between religion and film. Students relate reading in film criticism, aesthetic theory and theological reflection to a range of popular and art films from diverse cultures.

IST 3101 1 -- Holy Spirit: History & Tradition (OL)

Holy Spirit: Hist.&Trad. - 4 credits

Albert Hernandez

Check-in: Tues 10:30-11:45a wks 2,5,8 -- This course focuses on the history of pneumatology and traditions of Pentecost from the early middle ages to the 1700s. What have Christians believed and written about the Holy Spirit through the centuries? Why does Pentecost show up in such different ways across the pages of Christian theology and literature? The midst of the European Enlightenment, why did John Wesley hold such special reverence for the role of experience in Christian thought and education? Why has the Pentecostal legacy functioned simultaneously as a subversive trope for critiquing dominant church paradigms while also sparking creative, re-interpretations of Christian tradition among so many reformers? These are just a few of the questions explored in this class as we discuss historical and theological works by contemporary scholars in pneumatology and church history.

IST 3172 1 -- AI x Artificial Minds (OL)

Elective Course - 4 credits

Philip Butler

Check-in times Weeks 2,5,8, Tuesday 4-5:15p -- Artificial Intelligence is an often convoluted topic. In many cases it has created another class of existence in the "chain of being" (God, human artificial intelligence, animals, plants, etc.). This course will raise further questions to this "chain", not only questioning its actual existence (as posthuman scholarship already does), but to consider the ways that AI also exists as part of the playing field of being through its own cognition (programming logic—first, second, or higher order logic). This course will analyze the ways that race, sex/sexuality, gender, class, etc., have been used to reify this "chain of being" as a means to consider the possibility of AI's place as an equal member of actuality/reality/space.

IST 3210 1 -- Still Black Posthuman: Embracing Blackness as a Libertive Framework (OL)

Still Black Posthuman - 4 credits

Philip Butler

Check-in: Thurs 10:30-11:45am, wks 2,5,8 -- Blackness waits at the door. It sits in the room. It seeps into crevices. It disrupts stable sensibilities. It is the abyss. It is an overwhelming presence of life and the beyond. And it waits. This course will explore many presentations of Blackness as an ontology, material essence, and tangible modality. In doing so, this course will not only explore Blackness, but present it as an essential framework to push beyond posthumanism's regressing boundaries.

IST 4001 1 -- Internship Seminar (OL)

Internship phase 2 - 4 credits

Val Jackson

Check-in: Weds 9-10:15a wks 2,4,6,8,10 -- The purpose of this course is to further professional formation through critical reflection on and consultation about your internship experience with peers and faculty within the seminar setting and course assignments. As a requirement of the MDiv and MASJE degrees, students complete a 420-hour Internship and concurrent 30-week Internship Seminar during the Fall, Winter, and Spring quarters of one academic year. All three quarters must be completed in sequence within a single academic year. Internship Seminars are offered in residential and hybrid-online formats, and meet weekly for 2.5 hours or its equivalency for three consecutive quarters. 4 credits/quarter totaling 12 credits.
